Members of Sheridan's first kitchen band — the Kitchen Klatters — include, from left, Lois Thorpe, Rita Kaminsky, Becky Holloway, Hazel Black, Dee Black, Lloyd Waggener, Nell Fry and Orla Robbins. Also members but not pictured are Lois Etchechowry, Mel Krenzelok and Opal Olson. The band was the brain-child of Dee Black, who started the group with the help of seven of her neighbors at Heritage Towers. The group has now grown to up to 11 people, ranging in age from 37 to 94, according to Black, who said she got the idea rolling because "the world needs more laughter." The band has played at nursing homes, day care facilities, Heritage Towers and the Sheridan Senior Citizens Center and is scheduled to play at a church in the near future.
